

GET TO KNOW BRENNA

After many years as an intensive care nurse, Brenna became a nurse practitioner in order to play a more interactive part in preventing the negative outcomes associated with critical illness. With AgeRight, she sees her role as a patient advocate and primary care provider in senior care facilities, working with each resident to make decisions together toward their goals of care. More than anything, Brenna enjoys building relationships with seniors, hearing about their experiences and reinforcing that they are important and respected members of the community.

“ I feel rewarded when residents greet me with a smile and know that I am committed to advocating for them.”

BRENNA AT-A-GLANCE:

- Adult Gerontology Primary Care Nurse Practitioner-Board Certified (AGPCNP-BC)
- More than 15 years experience as a certified intensive care nurse
- Masters of Science in Nursing (MSN) degree from George Washington University
- Granddaughter of two World War II veterans, daughter of a Vietnam veteran who served in the Marines, wife of Navy veteran
- Enjoys yoga, traveling, exploring new places and fishing with the kids
- Active supporter of food banks and organizations that feed children and seniors

